Happy Birthday
GCEO

MESSAGE FROM GROUP CHIEF ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICER

Greetings everyone. It feels great to contribute to our Tristar World Newsletter once more. The third issue of the year 2025 and, today, I wish to share some thoughts not only about this newsletter but why Tristar's newsletter is successful.

As you are aware, a newsletter is a communication tool normally used by organizations or businesses to share news, information, or updates with the stakeholders. A newsletter can have various purposes – sharing information to audience, boosting engagement, creating a sense of community, building relationships, and not to forget, increasing brand awareness. It normally has a clear objective and keeping it regular creates that sustainable feeling among stakeholders who eagerly wait for its release.

To give you an essence of the history of the Tristar World Newsletter within Tristar, the first issue was launched in the year 2011 and contained information pertaining to our business and other activities. Tristar at that time, was present in around ten countries and you can estimate the number of employees. But the objective was to sustain this initiative and have four issues every year, one in each quarter.

To give you a glimpse – one of our issues in 2012 had information about the first-ever Leadership Summit attended by over 30 Senior Managers and our Group CEO communicating to them that the yearend revenue target of USD 300 Million will be achieved. Today, 13 years later, Tristar has grown to be present in 30-plus countries and boasting of a revenue line of around USD1.5 Billion.

Newsletters help you catch up on information or catch up on the history of an organization. I would like to mention here and congratulate our Corporate Communications Department for having sustained and kept this aspect continuous for the last 13 years. Special mention to our Head of Corporate Communications, Arthur Los Banos, who works hard every quarter not just conceiving ideas but collecting information from as many countries as possible, preparing articles, editing them, visualizing them, and eventually bringing them to life.

There is an everlasting passion to ensure that the Tristar World Newsletter has information, which is live, latest and reaches all stakeholders without fail every quarter – not just our employees but also our customers, external partners, etc., and this has helped us build the brand of Tristar immensely. Arthur has a team, an invisible team within Tristar Corporate Office and Global Network which also carries this passion to ensure that the newsletter provides information, has credibility, and is published in simple language along with relevant photographs for the readers to enjoy.

The purpose is to build our brand and image to show the world that Tristar is truly an integrated global energy logistics company, having its presence in five continents and 30-plus countries. Today, while we continue issuing our newsletters, we have embraced other communication channels like LinkedIn, Instagram and Facebook to go with the tide. Thanks again to Arthur and his team of third-party professionals, in addition to Nikita Taimni our Social Impact Specialist who joined us recently, we can receive not just latest news but also activities which are conducted in all the countries where we are present.

Starting with this issue, we will be bringing you to you an additional feature in our newsletter – “a CSR supplement” for stakeholders to visualize our contribution to the community and our vision about not just being an organization for profit but also for purpose.

I would also like to acknowledge the contributors to this issue, some regular, some new: Tim Coffin, Mike Achar, Biswajith Saha, Mukesh Sharma, Ravisha Wijesundara, Sanjit Roy, Mohsin Ali, Khushnood Rafiq, Adela Elago, Nikita Taimni, Eustace Fernandes, Karthik Kurungot, Aldrin Edward, and J.R.Raju.

I would like to leave you with this phrase from Robert Frost's poem – “Miles to go before I sleep”. While we have done well with our newsletter over the last decade, we have lots to achieve as we move ahead, and our organization continues to grow.

Aim High Tristar.

TRISTAR'S FUEL HYDRANT AT ENTEBBE INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT NOW FULLY OPERATIONAL

The Tristar team in Uganda has successfully started the fuel hydrant at the passenger terminal at the Entebbe International Airport. This signals Tristar's full coverage of the entire airport as an open access fuel farm operator for all oil marketing companies (OMCs) with the new fuel storage facility and fuel hydrant pipeline system.

The fuel farm and fuel hydrant at the cargo terminal commenced operations in early 2025 after the signing of the Agreement between Tristar Group and the Uganda Civil Aviation Authority (UCAA) covering a 25-year Built-Operate-Transfer (BOT) term. The Tristar facility was designed as per the JIG, EI and IATA standards and has a storage capacity of 12 million liters while an additional 4 million liters tank is under construction, which will bring the total storage capacity to 16 million liters. It is equipped with state-of-the-art facilities - 24X7 operational SCADA operated control systems and Leak Detection System for fuel hydrant.

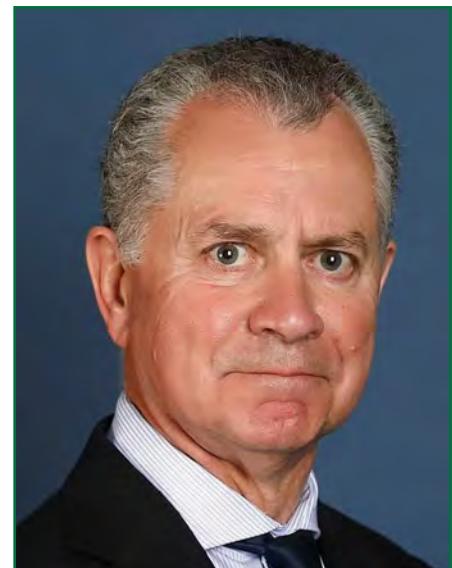

Tristar GM for Fuel Anil Parri mentioned: "We are happy that the project is now fully completed and operational for all OMCs at the airport. With the commissioning of more fuel hydrant operational stands at the airport, a faster and safer aircraft turnaround is ensured. This will also reduce fuel bowsers congestion on the tarmac for safer operations. I have great confidence in our Team members on ground, who are fully trained and groomed to ensure customer delight with smooth operations, and to deliver quality fuel, safely and timely to all stakeholder airlines."

Tristar Group CEO Eugene Mayne added: "A red-letter day for Tristar which will further consolidate our position as a partner for choice for our targeted customers in the Aviation Industry in Africa. GCEO CHAMPIONS SAFETY AND INCLUSIVITY DURING SRI LANKA VISIT

During his visit on September 18 and 19, Group CEO Eugene Mayne reaffirmed the organization's unwavering commitment to safety, describing it as the foundation of Tristar's global success. He emphasized that Tristar's presence in over 30 countries is a direct outcome of its disciplined adherence to rigorous safety standards.

Mr. Mayne shared Tristar's strategic vision for Sri Lanka as a promising emerging market and encouraged the local team to embed safety into every aspect of their operations. TRISTAR CAR'S EXTRAORDINARY ROAD TRANSPORT JOURNEY

In the heart of Central African Republic (CAR), where roads fade into rivers and rain carves trenches through red earth, Tristar trucks have become more than machines — they're lifelines.

Since July 2025, Tristar's operations have surged forward, transforming possibility into motion. The mission: to move vital fuel from the depots of Bangui to distant fuel sites passing through jungles, mud, and even uncertainty.

The team has delivered for more than three months a staggering 4 million plus litres of Diesel and 1 million plus litres of Jet A-1 Fuel, with each litre a triumph of willpower over terrain. The journey to remote sites is no ordinary stretch of highway. It's a test of endurance, mud-slicked tracks that swallow tyres, rivers that rise higher than bridges, and conflict zones. Every kilometre conquered tells a story: of drivers who refuse to turn back, workshop crews who keep the wheels alive, and a management team that never lets the flame of support flicker.

Tristar CAR's convoys don't just transport fuel, they carry the pulse of operations to the farthest frontiers, proving that resilience, not just horsepower, drives success. Where the roads end, Tristar keeps moving.

Mr. Mayne also reflected on Tristar's evolution into a global enterprise, powered by the strength of its diverse and inclusive multinational workforce. "Long-term resilience isn't built solely on systems and strategies," he remarked. "It's driven by the diverse perspectives, unique experiences, and collective talent of our people."

He concluded with a message that deeply resonated with the audience: "At Tristar, we're not just expanding a business—we're creating a legacy built on trust, integrity, and shared progress."

JIG REFRESHER TRAINING IN SOMALIA

It also served as an important platform to assess staff knowledge, identify training needs, and encourage active participation in the company's Safety Management System.

The training saw strong engagement, with 20 staff attending in person and 25 joining via Teams, including seven client representatives. A total of seven sites were audited, reinforcing Tristar's ongoing commitment to safety, quality, and operational excellence across its aviation network.

CONTINUOUS LEARNING INITIATIVES IN CAR

Last September 15 to 26, four members of Tristar Central African Republic's (CAR) maintenance team participated in a specialized training conducted by SINO Truck Company in Douala, Cameroon. The training focused on critical maintenance procedures for the new fleet of SINO trucks, enhancing the team's technical proficiency to ensure optimal performance under challenging field conditions.

To further reinforce safety culture, Tristar CAR continues to organize weekly, monthly, and quarterly driver safety meetings and training sessions. These programs focus on defensive driving techniques, fatigue management, and safe navigation across rugged terrains.

MARITIME TEAM VISITS SILVER JOAN CREW MEMBERS

Shore staff from Tristar's Maritime Logistics division regularly take the opportunity to visit the company's vessels to foster better interaction between sea and shore staff, and to verify that onboard conditions meet the Tristar standard.

A team from the Dubai headquarters of the company visited one of Tristar's product carriers, Silver Joan, at the Mina Zayed Port in Abu Dhabi on July 15. According to Sanjay Sachdev, Technical Director - Maritime Logistics, he found the vessel in good operational condition and the crew members demonstrating good awareness and commitment to safe practices. He made this conclusion based on the three critical areas on Safety Management, Vessel Operations, and Seafarer Welfare.

"We reviewed existing safety practices and procedures and emphasized on compliance with safety protocols, emergency preparedness, and fostering a proactive safety culture among the crew members," Sachdev explained. On Vessel Operations, he said that crew members demonstrated a sound understanding of their responsibilities and operational protocols such as watchkeeping, maintenance routines, and cargo handling procedures.

Sachdev also assessed the general welfare of the crew members, including living conditions, access to communication, mental well-being, recreational facilities, and encouraged the crew members to identify any area requiring attention. "Overall, the vessel was noted to be in good operational condition with a positive safety and welfare culture. It's a happy ship," he added.

Abhishek Kumar, Operations Manager of Road Transport & Warehousing (RTW), hosted the gathering and reiterated that "safety is an emotion to show care, because you all are important to us." His words inspired participants to reflect on the deeper meaning of safety beyond compliance.

Shivananda Baikady, General Manager of RTW, highlighted the role of open communication in building a stronger safety culture, while Srinivasalu Sridhar, Group Manager of HSEQ, shared Learning from Incidents (LFI) to remind participants that many accidents can be prevented if individuals take the courage to intervene and speak up on time.

In his closing remarks, Baikady emphasized that 'safety is ultimately about care — caring for oneself, colleagues, and families'. EXPANDING SCHOOL ROAD SAFETY CAMPAIGN TO DUBAI NATIONAL SCHOOL

On September 30, Tristar continued its school road safety initiative by reaching out to Dubai National School in Al Barsha, where over 430 students actively participated. This outreach reflects Tristar's ongoing mission to shape responsible future road users by educating school children on road rules and safe pedestrian behaviour.

The activity featured interactive presentations and a miniature road system with traffic signals and road signs where students were given the opportunity to practice road safety concepts in a fun and engaging way by riding pedal cars. The hands-on session reinforced key lessons such as the importance of wearing seat belts, using pedestrian crossings, and avoiding distractions on the road.

The campaign was conducted in collaboration with the Roads and Transport Authority (RTA), continuing the successful partnership that began in 2023. With the addition of Dubai National School, Tristar's school road safety campaign has now reached over 9,400 students across Dubai, Sharjah, and Abu Dhabi.

The initiative aligns with Tristar's Road Safety Excellence Hub, which serves as a platform to promote education, behavioural change, and knowledge sharing to create safer roads for all. MY SAFETY INITIATIVE RECOGNIZED BY ROSPA BY PRASAD KM

I am truly honored to receive the RoSPA Pride Award for a road safety initiative that has positively impacted the daily lives of many in our community.

The journey began when I noticed a potential safety risk on Al Asayel Road, Jebel Ali, Dubai. The road was heavily used by workers who often had to cross without a proper pedestrian crossing. Understanding the seriousness of the risk, I raised a request to the Dubai Roads and Transport Authority (RTA) for the installation of a pedestrian crossing signal. The RTA responded by conducting a detailed site inspection, after which they confirmed that the area was indeed accident-prone.

Today, this improvement has enhanced road safety in the area. Hundreds of workers now use the crossing safely every day, ensuring peace of mind for both pedestrians and drivers. This initiative not only prevented potential accidents but also highlighted how individual action, when combined with institutional support, can bring about meaningful change.

I would also like to express my gratitude to Tristar for providing a platform that encourages safety awareness and supports such initiatives. This recognition reinforces the importance of staying vigilant, reporting hazards, and working collectively to create a safer environment for everyone.

CELEBRATING WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY AROUND THE GLOBE

World Environment Day 2025

The United Nations' theme for World Environment Day 2025 is to “Beat Plastic Pollution,” which calls attention to the ongoing plastic pollution crisis and its impact on climate change, biodiversity loss and waste.

Towards this goal, over 130 Tristar Group employees lived Tristar’s mission to be a “business with purpose” by making a difference in their communities through plastic clean-ups and tree-planting volunteer activations as diverse as planting trees near the International Entebbe Airport, Uganda; building resilience against desertification at our office sites in Bangui, CAR; and even helping the forestry department clean Karura Forest near Nairobi, Kenya.

While World Environment Day gave us a reason to volunteer on June 5th, caring for the environment is an ongoing practice amongst our employees. Kudos to our team in Kismayu, Somalia, for example, for encouraging employees to plant at least one tree sapling every month. We’re proud of Mr. Shaiju Rajan and Mr. Harrisons’ dedication towards planting and nurturing fruit and shade-giving trees in APCL Juba, South Sudan over the past ten years.

Our Corporate Social Responsibility team, led by Dr. K.D. Kandpal further commemorated the day by launching the 2024 Greenhouse Gas Report at a World Environment Day event hosted near our Dubai headquarters. We invited 45 senior leaders to an educational workshop on the Circular Economy Fresk, which generated cross-functional dialogue about ways to improve sustainable in our professional and personal capacities.

The Greenhouse Gas Report provides a comprehensive assessment of our carbon footprint across business operations to understand our environmental impact and enable data-driven action to reduce emissions. Furthermore, this report aligns Tristar with the upcoming UAE Federal Decree-Law No. (11) of 2024 on minimizing Climate Change Effects. By proactively disclosing emissions, Tristar reinforces its role as an industry leader in climate change mitigation by complying ahead of regulatory requirements. Considering the increasing scope of global climate challenges, our initiative underscores the importance of corporate accountability and climate resilience in alignment with UAE’s Net Zero goals.

JUBA, SOUTH SUDAN | “Together for a Greener Tomorrow”

Mr. Shaiju Rajan and Mr. Harrison Johuwa have been planting and nurturing fruit and shade-giving trees for over 10 years at our APCL Juba site. Today, we proudly host 50+ mango, banana, guava, avocado, neem, coconut, and Ashoka and curry leaf trees. These trees not only beautify our periphery but also benefit APCL, Tristar, and the airport community. This year, the office team planted ornamental Ashoka trees while the Juba Tomping Fuel Site planted saplings.

International Yoga Day – June 20th 2025 | Worldwide via Livestream | Impacted 300+ employees

Breathe In. Breathe Out.

Yoga is a renowned form of exercise to improve physical and mental well-being: a core priority at Tristar for all our employees. But on International Yoga Day, it also made us feel a sense of connection towards one another across the world.

Our CSR team invited our global teams to come together for an hour-long, beginner-friendly class of mindful hatha yoga class hosted in-person at our Dubai headquarters and livestreamed to all our locations. Over 300 employees joined the session, including seafarers from our Silver Joan vessel anchored at Port Tarahan, Indonesia. We were delighted to see yoga participants join from Central African Republic (CAR), Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), Pakistan, South Sudan, Tanzania as well as our Jebel Ali offices and staff accommodations. It was powerful and joyful to come together at Tristar, over land and sea.

"Yoga Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm at our Juba Office," shared Ravneesh Aujla, Country Manager for South Sudan. "Our office and workshop staff practiced the asanas as guided by the yoga practitioner from Dubai. It was a refreshing and invigorating session, and helped introduce the team to yoga's benefits."

Self-care has increasingly taken the spotlight in 2025; this year's United Nations' International Yoga Day's theme built upon the movement with "One Earth, One Health." The theme emphasized a link between extending your locus of care and control from personal well-being to the communal health of the planet. We hope that Tristar's Yoga Day event helped all our teams feel that sense of global community.

Curious about yoga's benefits? The World Health Organization (WHO) shared the following:

- 77% of people report feeling physically stronger after regular yoga practice.
- A Harvard Medical School study found that 60% of participants with depression experienced significant symptom reduction after practicing yoga twice a week for eight weeks.
- 82% of patients with chronic inflammation experienced nearly a 50% reduction in symptoms after six weeks of daily yoga.

We invite all our employees to continue practicing mindfulness and prioritizing their physical and mental wellbeing through yoga. Namaste!

Purging Pesterling Plastics Challenge

Picture this: humans globally pollute the equivalent of 2000 garbage truckloads of plastic into our world's oceans, lakes and rivers, daily. That's 19-23 million tonnes of plastic entering our ecosystem annually (UN Environmental Programme.)

The plastic pollution crisis hits even closer to home with 2018 and 2023 studies proving that humans are unknowingly inhale or ingest 39k-50k bites of nanoplastics every year, letting toxic particles enter our bloodstream, lungs and other organs potentially altering our neurological pathways and resulting in other harmful effects on our health. That's the equivalent of eating a credit card each week! (Plastic Pollution Coalition.)

On World Ocean Day 2025, Tristar's UAE teams took up Emirates Environmental Group (EEG)'s "Purging Pesterling Plastics" challenge to collect a target of 175 kilograms of plastic within a month. To spur employee engagement, our CSR Team created an internal competition to encourage plastic collections across our Dubai headquarters and Road, Transport and Warehouse (RTW) teams.

Over the month, our employees' friendly competition led to them involving their extended communities in the plastic drive. We applauded them encouraging their family, neighbours, sports teams, prayer groups, favorite restaurants and even ship and port crews to donate plastic to our collection. Nawal Hussain Al Balooshi, Marketing Specialist, for example, involved the Dubai Women's Association, including their branch in Hatta as well as students from AI Wasl University. Sports enthusiast, Rohit Singh, Senior Procurement Manager, involved his cricket team while Capt. Nazeef Siddiqui, Head of Coastal Maritime Logistics coordinated receiving plastic from vessels at Fujairah Port. Yakhoob Ahmed Munir, HSE Assistant greatly contributed to winning team, RTW 1's victory by rounding up plastic from local mosques and restaurants.

By July 1st, we were proud to handover 956.55 kilograms of plastic to EEG's recycling center! Our internal competition's 1st place team, RTW 1 contributed an impressive 483.3 kilograms and 2nd place team, HR and Support Services collected 122.2 kilograms. We awarded our participants with marine life keychains and winners with custom aromatherapy diffusers and essential oils kits, made from environmentally-friendly materials along with recognition certificates awarded by Mr. Balaji Nagabhushan, Group Chief Administrative Officer and Mr. Shivananda Baikady, General Manager for RTW at their respective offices.

EEG has responded with tremendous praise at our contribution, of which 775 kilograms qualifies for their recycling center's needs. They will be planting four native trees in Tristar Group's honor at a ceremony on December 20th 2025.

We have since added a recycling bin, with separators for plastic, paper and waste to continue our employees' daily emphasis on recycling at our HQ office.

Tristar Sri Lanka Commits to Clean Sri Lanka Initiative

Tristar Sri Lanka, through its joint venture with RM Parks, is proud to support the "Clean Sri Lanka Project," a landmark nationwide initiative launched on January 1st 2025, by President Anura Kumara Dissanayake. The project aims to promote environmental sustainability, reduce waste and foster ethical civic values across the country.

With the motto "Beautiful Island, Smiling People," the Clean Sri Lanka Project calls on citizens, businesses and government institutions to work together towards a cleaner, healthier environment for future generations.

As part of this commitment, our Managing Director, Susantha Silva (second from the right), signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Ministry of Energy to upgrade 25 restroom facilities at Shell-branded fuel stations across Sri Lanka. Representatives from other leading petroleum companies also joined the agreement reflecting a united front within the energy sector toward national sustainability goals.

The Clean Sri Lanka Project represents a collective step forward in building a cleaner, greener, and more responsible future for all Sri Lankans. Tristar is honored to play an active role in this transformative movement.

Tristar Sri Lanka Cleans Up Dehiwala Beach in honor of World Ocean Day

Inspired by the UAE headquarters' World Ocean Day plastic collection competition, Tristar Sri Lanka launched a beach clean-up event aligned with the national Clean Sri Lanka campaign; a government-led effort to enhance environmental sustainability and civic responsibility across the country.

Led by Kithmevan Dandeniya, Sales Manager, twelve volunteers from Tristar, RM Parks, and our fuel station dealer network gathered at Dehiwala Beach, one of Colombo's most polluted coastal stretches, according to local municipality reports, for a plastic clean-up drive.

Over five hours under the intense June tropical sun, the volunteers collected an impressive 165 kilograms of plastic, helping restore a small but meaningful portion of this vital marine ecosystem. Dehiwala Beach's popularity with locals and tourists has led to increasing plastic pollution due to urban runoff and improper waste disposal, making clean-up efforts like these critical to coastal preservation.

Giriprasad Nair, Country Manager for Sri Lanka, praised the initiative: "Indeed, it was not only an impactful activity but also an uplifting one."

We appreciate our volunteers' dedication, energy, and commitment to protecting our environment: Ravisha Wijesundara, Duminda Sampath Wijesooriya, Arvind Kumar Sharma, Piyumal Amarasinghe, Lal Gamin, and Nadun Wanniarachchi.

“Damu Salama”

Tristar Tanzania recognized for four years of supporting safe blood donations on World Donors Day 2025

On World Donors Day 2025, Tristar Energy (Tanzania) continued their support for the National Blood Transfusion Services (NBTS), known locally as Damu Salama, by donating 60 cartons of bottled water and 25 cartons of biscuits to assist with the day's smooth operations. Our contribution helped sustain 720 volunteer donors, ensuring they remained hydrated and energized throughout the process.

Damu Salama, which means “Safe Blood” in Swahili, is the Tanzanian Ministry of Health’s government-run blood transfusion program. Established in 2004, the program has played a vital role in collecting, testing and distributing safe blood to hospitals across the country. Its guiding message, “Changa Damu, Okoa Maisha” (Donate Blood, Save Lives), emphasizes the importance of voluntary donations in saving lives, especially in maternal care, surgical emergencies and pediatric cases.

The NBTS recognized Tristar Tanzania’s four years of consistent CSR commitment to the program by awarding us with the “Outstanding Supporter of the Year 2025” certificate; a testament to our dedication to public health and community development.

Emmanuel Werema, Administrative Assistant at Tristar Tanzania, who volunteered at this year’s World Donor Day event summarized, “We are all collectively responsible for saving lives. We encourage everyone to volunteer for important community events like blood donation drives. These efforts not only build stronger ties with our community but also contribute to a healthier society.”

Tristar Tanzania remains deeply committed to supporting CSR initiatives that promote health, safety, and sustainable development across the communities in which it operates. TRISTAR ENERGY (TANZANIA) LIMITED, Team participated on World Donors Day 2025 by supporting 60 cartons of water and 25 cartons of biscuits to National Blood Transfusion Services, the support helped to smooth the process in which 720 donors used water and biscuits in this event.

The supporting is among of TRISTAR TANZANIA continuous CSR activities for the last four years to the National Blood Transfusion Services (NBTS), Tristar Tanzania has become one of the best supporters of this Institution as it has been awarded the best outstanding supporter for the year 2025 certificate.

Tanzania's Ministry of Health awarded Tristar Tanzania a certificate of recognition for outstanding support towards the Damu Salama program.

Guam's Chamorro people's ancient folklore places the "Pulattat," or Mariana Common Moorhen at the heart of their island origin story. According to the legend, two sibling gods, a brother and sister, residing in the sky, looked down upon the vast Pacific Ocean and decided to create a place where people and life could flourish. To determine where to place the islands, the gods called upon a clever and observant bird, the pulattat, who was considered sacred for living gracefully between the two worlds: land and sea.

Charged with its mission, the pulattat flew for days over the water, until it found a spot where the ocean currents formed a place of perfect energy and balance. It returned to the skies to lead the gods to that place, whereupon the goddess shaped the earth to create Guahan (Guam) and the rest of the Mariana Islands. Seen as the guardian of wetlands and sacred spaces, the pulattat continues to be spiritually revered by locals.

Today, the slate-black bird is categorized as Endangered by the US Fish and Wildlife Service for its population of 300 birds live uniquely on the Mariana Islands. Perhaps their legendary loyalty to Guam never wavered, for the pulattat is a non-migratory bird that resides in the Northern Mariana Islands' marshlands.

Interestingly, most of the population lives on Tristar Terminals Guam's premises, who are proud to supporting these birds' by fostering their natural habitat in Agat.

"Our employees are committed to the environmental stewardship required to combat the numerous threats to the pulattat species such as habitat loss, invasive predators and limited nesting areas," shared Monica Sarusal, Administrative Assistant at Tristar Terminals Guam.

Discover the Chamorro Legend behind Tristar Terminals Guam's conservation for the "Pulattat" Mariana Common Moorhen

These conservation efforts have led to an impressive increase in local bird species count: the Marianas Audubon Society's Christmas Count reported 23 species on January 4th 2025 as compared to 13 species on the same day last year. These birds include sparrows, terns, drongos, herons, tattlers, starlings, moorhens, egrets, golden plovers, doves, whimbrels and more.

The Guam Audubon Society's president, Martin Kastner was pleased to see the species' resilience and signs of adaptation to a developed, industrial setting and considers this a source of hope for its long-term recovery. He kindly provided a list of recommendations for Tristar to improve the birds' habitat at the Terminals.
